DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 1 – 5 and 9 – 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yamazaki.
3. With respect to claims 1 and 9, Yamazaki shows (see cover Figure and column 4, line 50 et seq.) a FET with a source region 101, a drain region 103 a channel region 102 and the channel region has a width determined by the implant regions 105, 106. Note that the substrate is doped (column 6, line 26) and thus a doped region surrounds the active area.
4. With respect to claims 2 and 10, the variable doping profile is determined by the regions 105, 106 which are implanted (column 6, line 17).
5. With respect to claims 3 and 11, the regions 105, 106 determine the effective width of the channel since they are pinning regions (column 4, line 65).

6. With respect to claim 4, the doping profile has a minimum at the center of the channel since the regions 105, 106 are formed by implanting further dopants in the already doped substrate.
7. With respect to claims 5 and 12, there is continuity of the doping in the regions 102, 105, 106.
8. With respect to claims 13 – 15, Yamazaki shows a pair of transistors (Figure 5B) and it would be obvious to make the transistors the same or different, depending on design requirements.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
10. Claims 6 – 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamazaki in view of Iwasaki.
11. Yamazaki shows a method of adjusting the threshold voltage (column 7, line 27) and Iwasaki shows (see cover Figure page 3 et seq.) a structure with a pair of transistors. It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use the Yamazaki method of adjusting the threshold of the Iwasaki device to optimize them and to use different adjustments since the FETs are different.

Response to Arguments

12. Applicant's arguments filed 3/18/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments address the amended claims which are discussed above.

Conclusion

13. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
